Just received, a new lot of elegant What Must be Done to Secure Immigrants.

Nature has, with a lavish hand, be-stowed upon our State all the gifts which are requisite for drawing to her and sup porting a vast population. She has furnished the crude material for the work-Memphis can be found at Francisco & man in every avenue of industry and Wiggin's, 307 Main street, under Peasoll, of climate, of mineral and vegetable wealth, not to be equalled in any similar area on our continent; and all that Tennessee now wants to make her great, is a population to make use of these great gifts of nature.

Immigration alone can furnish this population, in time, at least, to keep pace with the progress which marks Alabama, is stopping at the Worsham other sections of our country. This fact has been appreciated by our people, and many attempts have been made, both by communities and the State, to superduce the much desired result and bring population to our borders. But in spite of committees and commissioners, immigrants have not come to us, and continue to go to less favored parts of the country.
